

GGGCAGTTAG

A DNA double helix structure is shown below the sequence. It consists of a yellow backbone and four colored rungs representing the base pairs. The rungs are positioned below the letters G, G, C, and A respectively. The rungs are colored green, red, blue, and green from left to right.