

Sequence logo for the 12th position. The logo shows the relative frequency of each nucleotide (A, C, G, T) at that position. The nucleotides are represented by letters in different colors: A is green, C is blue, G is yellow, and T is red. The height of each letter indicates its frequency. In this position, G and T are the most frequent, followed by A and C.